Headline:
Rain, sleet, and snow before some sunny spells later.

Today:
A rather cloudy morning with scattered wintry showers falling as snow at times for some, especially over higher ground. Some sunny spells forming through the afternoon. Feeling cold, although more pleasant in any sunshine. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
Any remaining showers will ease this evening to become largely clear and dry. More patchy cloud will form overnight alongside isolated fog patches. Cold with frost forming under clear skies. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Tuesday:
A dry, frosty start with some bright spells. Cloud developing towards lunchtime bringing scattered afternoon showers. The showers ease later and cloud begins to disperse overnight. Feeling milder than Monday. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Sunshine and isolated showers on Wednesday. Becoming dry with some sunshine on Thursday and Friday. Generally becoming cloudier during the afternoons. Gradually becoming milder, although still rather cold overnight.
